When Advertisements

Ran on Dollar Bills

During World War II Roy Anderson got out a famous monthly newsletter to the boys of the Hope trade. It was brisk reading, and reports drifting back from overseas and the training camps on this side all said that when one of Roy's letters arrived it passed through a hundred eager hands in nothing flat.

Roy's not writing 'em any more, but he casts an envious eye on another Arkansas business man who's running a similar feature for his trade and acquaintances. He is W. Carter, Box 240, Monticello. Mr. Carter mails out a little folder with a joke clipped to it. "I enjoyed reading this — hope it will make you smile, too," says the salutation.

The wife of a mountaineer had just become a mother for the 17th time. The ever-growing family seemed to be of concern to the oldest boy of the group. One day, idling idly in the fields, he spotted an airplane; the first he had ever seen. As he watched, several men paraded out. He ran home, grabbed his father and said: "Get your gun and come a-runnin', pa! The stork just flew over and he's droppin' 'em down full-grown now."

And here's a factual editorial from another paper which will give you a bigger bang than fiction:

Advertising on Currency Popular a Century Ago (Charleston News & Courier)

George Stark of the Stark & Wetzel Packing Co., Indianapolis, who got in trouble recently by pasting advertising matter on silver dollars, was just a century too late.

In South Carolina in the 1840's and 1850's when any bank could issue banknotes, many of the bills were blank on one side. It was not at all unusual for business houses to print their advertisements on the backs.

For instance, a $10 banknote of the Bank of Hamburg, S. C., has a neatly printed advertisement on its back of Palmetto Brand fine cut Cavendish tobacco, sold by Williams F. Dodge, Institute Hall, Charleston, S. C.

Kellogg & Dodge stamped an advertisement of their business of selling machinery in Broad Street, Charleston, on the reverse of a $10 note of the Bank of South Carolina.

An oyster saloon in St. Louis, Mo., advertised its cheap prices on the reverse of a $10 note of the State Bank of South Carolina. On the face, S. D. McClure & Co., bankers, in Memphis, Tenn., stamped their advertisement.

The Atlanta Insurance and Banking Co., stamped its advertisement on the face of $10 bills of the Bank of Fairfield, in Willsboro, and bills of the same denomination of the Bank of Hamburg.

Burke & Bullock, St. Louis bankers, used the face of a $5 note of the State Bank of South Carolina. Shalard & Williams of Knoxville similarly used a $5 bill of the Bank of Fairfield.

The Atlanta Insurance Co. stamped the face of a $20 note of the Southwestern Railroad Bank, of Charleston, and B. C. Adams, Grenada, Miss., banker, used the face of a $10 Bank of Camden note.

Stark found out he could be fined up to $500 apiece for defacing 80,000 silver dollars, so he had to employ eight persons to remove the advertising from the money to avoid a fine which could be as great as $40 million.

During the War Between the States, when small change got scarce in the North, postage stamps were used for money. Many manufacturers, particularly medicine makers, enclosed the stamps in metal cases bearing their advertisements. These are much sought after today.

Reds See No Merit In New Plan of Allies

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Allies today banded the Communists detailed plans for a Korean peace conference, but the Reds said they could see no merit in the proposal and would unveil one of their own Monday.

Special U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean presented a 12-point formula which would allow non-belligerent nations with a direct interest in Korea to attend the conference as non-voting observers.

Russia would attend as a full member on the Communist side of the table — not as a neutral as the Reds demand.

Dean said the 6 United Nations which fought in Korea and South Korea's President Syngman Rhee have endorsed the plan.

The envoy also said Rhee promised him not to resume hostilities while a peace conference is underway and to cooperate fully at the conference.

The fiery South Korean President has said repeatedly he would order his American-trained divisions northward unless progress is made toward unifying his country by late January.

Negotiations to set up the peace conference revert to full scale plenary sessions Monday at the request of the Reds. The diplomats have met as two subcommittees since Nov. 16.

Not Many Suckers Like This One

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — When burglars took $8,500 from Mike Shean's home last week the 66-year-old tavern owner figured things had gone just about far enough.

The next day he got a phone call from Los Angeles. "I'm an old friend named Turner, the man said. You remember me, I say where you lost all that money? Want to help you out. Got a fool-proof system for beating the horses. Just send me some money, to M. Turner, Los Angeles."

Mike sent $200. The next day another call, another $100. Then $200 more, then $300.

"Where's my winnings?" Mike demanded.

And Mike had made a new resolution:

He's going to be more careful with his money. Starting right now.

This Dinner Went Fast

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Fourteen guests sat around the Harry Christopher apartment hungrily await Thanksgiving dinner.

But the dinner never reached the table. It hit the ceiling.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Bozo a meat-eating Macaque monkey, escaped from his cage in a pet shop yesterday and ate Thanksgiving dinner. The men:

One red-headed parrot Several parakeets

Two bananas for dessert Manager Claude Sims later recaptured him and estimated the dinner cost 75.

Ava to Make New York Movie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ava Gardner is on route to New York City and Rome. Which she will make a movie. A studio spokesman said last night she will go ahead with plans to divorce Frank Sinatra.

Shred Cotton Stalks Says County Agent

Right now the cotton producer can help most in eradication of the pink bollworm in Hempstead by shredding all cotton stalks, states County Agent Oliver Adams.

By destroying "over-wintering" bollworms young possibly now in the stalks and seeds.

The U. S. D. A. Pink Bollworm Inspector, A. L. Anderson, now stationed in Hope, advises that the shredder type stalk cutter properly used at this season will kill 60 per cent of the pink bollworms in cotton stalks. The shredder-cutter is one with the turning knife as used by several Hempstead County farmers in cleaning pastures of weeds and small brush. This type cutter breaks up and jars the cotton stalk severely. In addition to killing 60 per cent of the worms, the shredded-cutter injures fatally many worms by exposing them to winter decay. The conventional roller-type stalk cutter will kill only 5 to 7 per cent of the pink bollworms in the stalks, states Inspector Anderson.

Farmers with winter cover crops such as vetch, Austrian winter peas, oats and other winter cover crops planted in cotton land will not damage the crop with the shredder-type stalk cutter if used now. Where possible the shredded stalks and other plant residue should be plowed under to hasten decay. Some farmers may want to use livestock in pasturing the cotton fields before shredding the stalks so that the stock may consume the immature bolls and seed cotton remaining in the fields. It is very important to destroy all bolls now remaining in the fields in any manner possible.

The Pink Bollworm Inspector says that all farmers will have the opportunity to have all cotton

RAF Rocket Ships Part of Defense

London — 8 semi-official Royal Air Force magazine said Friday piloted rocket ships launched straight up from the ground will form a part of Britain's future defenses against atomic bombing.

The magazine, Flying Review, said the stubby-winged rockets will hit 1,500 miles an hour and will be able to reach a bomber flying at 50,000 feet in less than a minute.

Once at fighting altitude they will have enough maneuver ability to line up their target and attack it with 32 radar-guided rockets—16 under each wing. The pilot will then glide back to the earth.

The article said the piloted rocket-craft will have one big advantage over radar-controlled guided missiles: they will be able to do their work even if the enemy succeeds in jamming the radar waves.

Unlike the guided missiles, they all may be used over and over again.

The article did not say whether a prototype of the manned rocket ship has yet been built.

Praises Program in Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), reporting on his impression of Point Four administration in the Far East has high praise for that in Indochina.

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday, Mansfield said technical assistance personnel were doing a "remarkable" job in Nepal.

But he said he found on his study tour that Indochina's mission has been a target for "widespread" charges of incompetence. He urged an investigation.

Boy's Letter Got Results

SEATTLE (AP) — If you had been Municipal Judge John H. Neergaard would you have granted this plea?

"Dear Judge Neergaard:

"You don't know us, but you put our daddy in jail for drunkenness. I'm not blaming you because he had it coming, but would you please let him come home for Thanksgiving and Christmas? Daddy says grace and it wouldn't be the same."

"Please let our daddy come home."

Sincerely yours, Mary, Jane and Jackie."

The judge did — and canceled the remainder of the sentence too.

Honesty Doesn't Pay This Way

While he was in the station the brakes on the cab gave way and it coasted down the street and crashed through a furniture store window.

Big Underworld Turkey Dinner

CLEVELAND (AP) — Laying in supplies for what might have been a big underworld Thanksgiving celebration, thieves took 50 turkeys, 90 chickens, 15 geese, 20 cartons of cigarettes, 2 boxes of cigars and $280, police said yesterday in compiling reported losses from three separate stores.

Foy Tradition Continues 3rd Generation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The tradition started by the great vandyllian Eddie Foy is continuing to the third generation.

The purple-mouthed Foy was one of the leading figures of the early golden era of American entertainment. He spanned a household of little performers and incorporated them into an act called "Eddie Foy and the 7 Little Foyes."

The most famous of the offspring is Eddie Jr., who reports that his own son, Eddie III, is getting ready to be in the family trade.

"He's only 18 and still going to Notre Dame High School the San Fernando Valley," reported Eddie Jr. "But he's got a lot of ham in him. He and some high school buddies whipped up an act and did it one night at my brother's night club. It was okay, but Eddie complained about the act that preceded him. He's catching on fast."

The 18-year-old will probably face military service and Notre Dame University before he can hit the footlights. But his father says the boy is eager. He'll carry on a tradition that goes back to Chicago alley saloons in the 19th century.

The elder Foy, then Edward Fitzgerald, used to dance for pennies in the drinking joints when he was a boy. One night a bleary-eyed actor commended him and asked his name. "That's too long," the actor thespian replied. "Better take my name. I haven't done much to distinguish it, but it's short and people remember it. The name is Foy."

Foy went out West to play such towns as Dodge City and became friends with Wyatt Earp. But Masterson and other frontier group's chairman, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.).

Farm Sales Take Slight Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farm sales were slightly bigger during the first 10 months of 1953 than in the same period last year, but the farmer received 5 per cent less cash.

The department report yesterday said the decline, a total of $24,800,000,000, was caused by lower prices.

However, it said the consumer paid more for goods in general, with prices of industrial goods rising slightly to balance the lower prices of farm goods. The report also noted a small boost in charges for transportation, rent, medical care and other services.

It said farm receipts from meat animals declined 7 per cent and for crops 2 per cent.

Police Wait In Search For Lost Baby

MARIANNA (AP) — Police are waiting to "see what turns up" before continuing a full-scale search of a densely wooded East Arkansas area for a baby girl missing three days.

Some 400 police officers, National Guardsmen and volunteers have covered more than a square mile in the search, probing bogs, wading water-filled ditches and searching through the underbrush for some sign of 23-month-old Barbara Sue Jones.

Chief Deputy Sheriff J. H. Smithson said the search failed to uncover any trace of the child and that it seemed useless to go over the territory again. He said it would have been impossible for the child to have wandered out of the area covered in the search.

"We'll just let things cool down a little and see what turns up," he said, without elaborating.

Sheriff C. S. Langston has said that he had no reason to believe that foul play was involved and Smithson agreed, adding:

"It's a little bit funny that we can't uncover anything."

He said neighbors probably would continue to search the Warrior Bottoms area, a widely-known duck hunting section near the Jones home, today.

Social Security Hearing Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur J. Altmeyer, former social security administrator, was summoned today before a House hearing lambasted by a Democrat as an attempt to "smash the present social security system."

The charge — quickly denied — came yesterday from Rep. Eberhart (D-Pa.), who said witnesses have been asked loaded questions during the two weeks of hearings to date.

"The study or investigation, in my opinion, has been anything but objective," Eberhart said in a statement. "The printed hearing will be a monumental compendium of all possible objections and criticisms which can be voiced against the present social security act."

Rep. Goodwin (R-Mass.), a member of the Ways and Means subcommittee, said the hearings are aimed at gaining "facts as to the workability of the present system."

Eisenhower for Puerto Rican Independence

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower has promised to move for complete Puerto Rican independence any time the Legislature of that Caribbean commonwealth asks for it.

The offer was announced to the U. N. General Assembly last night by chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Speaking during debate on proposed measures to determine when a dependent territory becomes self-governing, Lodge said:

"I am authorized to say on behalf of the President that at any time the Legislative Assembly of Puerto Rico adopts a resolution in favor of more complete or even absolute independence, he will immediately recommend to Congress that such independence be granted."

Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin declined in San Juan.

"This is a magnificent attitude which does honor to the United States and will show America and the whole world the sincerity of the present relationship of voluntary association between the United States and Puerto Rico."

The island, taken by the United States during the Spanish-American War of 1898, was recently given self-governing status as a commonwealth associated with the United States. Some U. N. delegates have contended that this status is meaningless and that in reality Puerto Rico is still a dependent territory.

This viewpoint lost out in assembly, however, when the 60-nation group adopted a resolution declaring the island no longer comes within the meaning of the term "non-self-governing territory" as defined by the U. N. Charter. The vote was 22-10, with 18 nations abstaining.

Rhee, Chiang in Conference

By SPENCER MOORE

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek, two Asian leaders bonded in hatred of communism, today began a series of talks apparently aimed at tightening their unofficial alliance against the Reds.

Rhee said his trip was a friendly visit, but added that "something may be brought up for discussion."

The surprise visit started immediate speculation that the two nations — both ravaged by Red forces — may join in a new anti-Red bloc.

Cotton Bowl to Make Selection

DALLAS (AP) — Tomorrow afternoon, when certain football results are in, the Cotton Bowl is due to reveal its Jan. 7 participants.

Alabama plays Auburn, Mississippi clashes with Mississippi State, Texas Tech closes the season against Hardin-Simmons and Kentucky just waits — it already is through.

Texas clinched a tie for the Southwest Conference championship yesterday by beating Texas A&M 21-12. Rice and Baylor play at Houston tomorrow to determine which will wind up sharing the title with Texas. Then will come the selection of the Cotton Bowl host team.

Brownell Would Protect Witnesses

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell obviously hopes that by getting around the Fifth Amendment the government will have a better luck unmasking Communists and prosecuting alleged Soviet spies.

He's asking Congress for a law protecting some witnesses in certain cases they will never be prosecuted in federal court for any federal crime they confess to congressional committees or grand juries.

This is his attempt to make witnesses talk, whether they want to or not. For, once promised immunity from prosecution, under Brownell's proposal, they could be pulled for contempt if they still refused to open up.

The plan would work, of course, only with witnesses who thought silence at the trial of full for contempt was too expensive. It couldn't judge a man who preferred jail to talking.

And even though a witness was promised immunity from trial in federal court for a federal crime, if in his testimony he admitted violating a state law he could later be prosecuted in a state court.

This is the background: The government and congressional committees have been stymied in their efforts to dig into communism and alleged spy rings by a parade of men and women who have taken refuge behind the Constitution's Fifth Amendment.

That amendment says no witness in a criminal case can be compelled to give evidence against himself, that is, saying anything which might land him in jail. So many suspected persons have responded to committee questions with "I invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer on the grounds that anything I say might be used to incriminate me."

One witness used it 178 times. A prison using this excuse for refusing to answer questions can't be jailed for contempt.

Long ago, realizing the Fifth Amendment could be used to frustrate investigations, Congress passed a law which said: No witness before a committee can ever be prosecuted in federal court or what he says.

There was a glitch. His own words could never be used against him. But the government could use his words as leads to evidence and perhaps witnesses against him and so bring him to trial.

But, since it's no crime under federal law to be a Communist, how can a Communist or a person accused of being a Communist claim anything he says may incriminate him?

"There is a law, passed in 1940 and called the Smith Act, which doesn't mention Communists at all but simply says people can be jailed for advocating or conspiring forcible overthrow of the government."

Many Communist leaders have been successfully prosecuted by the government under the Smith Act, not on a charge of being Communists, they were in conspiracy against the government.

So any Communist before a congressional committee can argue — and Congress won't cite him for contempt for doing it — that once he starts talking about himself he may be talking himself behind bars.

Under the law Brownell wants Congress to pass in 1954 the attorney general could promise certain witnesses — he'd pick them — that they could never be tried in federal court or any federal crime they admitted while testifying.

This would remove that glitch in the present law under which the government could start with a witness' admissions to find evidence on which to try him.

With such a law, Brownell seems to think he might be able to get some spy suspects to talk about the ring-leaders and so start them on the way to trial, which is something he hasn't been able to do yet.

If Congress passed such a law the Supreme Court in the end would probably decide whether it was actually contrary to the Fifth Amendment.

Churchill Is Worried Over Party Revolts

By TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill called an emergency Cabinet meeting today to consider revolts spreading within the ranks of his own Conservative Party.

Ministers hurried to Nov. 10 Downing St., the prime minister's official residence.

The government now is squabbling with rank and file conservatives on three issues—commercial television, war pensions and the Suez Canal problem.

The Cabinet meeting was concerned particularly with the war pensions dispute—an issue generating so much heat that some Conservatives shouted criticism at Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday.

But there was no doubt that the squabbles on commercial television and the future of the Suez Canal were causing concern to party's top leadership.

The government proposes to set up a statutory corporation to control commercial television. While advertising would be strictly controlled, the plan would break the television monopoly now enjoyed by the British Broadcasting Corp., a publicly owned corporation chartered by the government. The BBC would continue to provide non-commercial sound and television broadcasts.

Conservatives led by Sir Edward Keeling and Brigadier Christopher Peto — are determined to offer a reversal of the government's decision not to increase the pensions of officers of the First World War.

Booklets for parochial schools and college faculties reportedly will be paid for by an unidentified private donor.

Dean Would Include Russia in Peace Talks

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

PANAJUNION (AP) — U. S. envoy Arthur Dean said today "some method must be worked out" to assure the attendance of Soviet Russia as a full participant at a Korean peace conference.

The Reds want Russia to attend as a neutral. Dean charged this would mean the Soviet Union would not be bound by conference decisions.

He said Chinese and North Korean negotiators working on plans for the peace conference are holding Russia "as a threat over our heads."

Allied and Communist diplomats met for 3 hours and 45 minutes, the longest continuous session since the preliminary talks opened Oct. 26. They will meet again Friday.

Meanwhile, explanations to war prisoners who have refused to go home remained stalled and there was no indication the interviews would be renewed.

Dean said two long statements at the preliminary peace talks indicated the Communist position that Russia is a neutral.

"Why are you afraid to have the U. S. S. R. at the political conference as a full participant?" he asked.

"Is the real reason... because: (A) the U. S. S. R. does not wish to be bound by the agreement reached at the political conference and (B) you wish to use as a threat at the conference the possible nonaggression of the U. S. S. R. or its noncompliance with the agreements reached?"

"It was unadulterated hog wash," Dean said, "accusing us of bad treatment of prisoners and atrocities in prisoner of war camps. I told them we'd make progress if we cut out these stumpy speeches."

Huang Hui told Dean that the United States started the Korean War; that Russia had striven in the United Nations "for years" for a peaceful settlement.

"You have attempted to negate the neutrality of the Soviet Union," the Chinese told Dean, "re you at war with the Soviet Union?"

Dean replied that Russia is not and cannot be a neutral nation. It is the role of true neutrals at the peace conference we are willing to exchange views. That does not and it will not include the U. S. S. R."

"The entire world knows we stand for the complete freedom and dignity of man as a creature of God. The U. S. S. R. stands for the supremacy of the state and believes the individual unimportant except in so far as he can be used by the state. That, we can never accept."

"Communists, directed by the U. S. S. R., are continuously and constantly trying to undermine and overthrow our government in an undeclared war but they shall not succeed."

The Communists for the ninth straight day made no effort to interview the more than 20,000 Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to return to Red rule.

Observers said the Reds apparently have given up all explanations, at least for the time being. The U. N. Command, meanwhile, continued work on ground rules before announcing when it will start trying to woo home 22 Americans, 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who have refused repatriation.

The South Korean government stepped up its attacks today on Indian neutrality and issued a statement declaring India never would be allowed to attend the peace conference.

The two-room farm house caught fire Sunday when a heater exploded while Mrs. Merritt was pouring kerosene into it.

DOROTHY DIX

Born To Rule?

Dear Miss Dix: My husband has always felt that a man should be complete boss. While I think marriage should be an equal partnership. Perhaps I'm prejudiced because of early training. My father was the undisputed head of the household, and thought we respected him, no one loved him. We had to beg for every cent we got, and often went without necessary clothing because we couldn't bear the scenes that followed a request for money.

My husband has the same money complex. He's kind and considerate in most ways, but believe me I should ask for every cent spent on the house or on myself. They feel supposed to be profusely grateful for a pair of hose. I'm worried about our future, since I know I can never be the soft creature my mother was.

Man and His Importance
Answer: Marriage should, of course, be an equal partnership with no squabbles over who's boss. But the unalterable fact remains that a man does like to feel his importance, and if some measure of extra consideration isn't forthcoming, he's likely to grab at the first means of asserting it. This is usually a tight hold on the family purse strings, and a more incurable problem you couldn't have. You might try listing your jobs in the house — cook, laundress, nurse, secretary, etc. — and ask for at least a minimum pay for each.

Every woman should be given a personal allowance for which she does not need to give an accounting. Personal dignity and economic expediency demand this. How to get it? Ah, there's the rub, but you might try a sit-down strike on at least one of your jobs. Hitting his pride might help, too. Point out the difference between your own shabby wardrobe, and the nice apparel of Mrs. B. across the street.

A well-dressed wife advertises her husband's success; does your man like a broadcast that he is a failure?

As for the profuse thanks he expects for each nickel he parts with — does he give you wholehearted appreciation for a well kept house?

"Unless India is restrained from further unneutral acts, this nation will have to consult its interests and take action that appears to be appropriate."
